

I believe the current No-Call law is fine as it is. Even with the restrictions, there are occasionally calls that get through, and I fear that by easing restrictions slightly, there is a higher likelihood of this happening.